

The JCC of Greater Albuquerque presents...

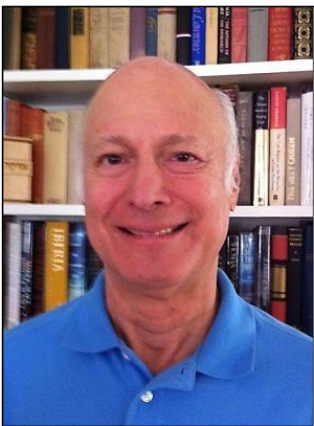

The Dynamics of Jewish History

Last of three 4-week courses with Rabbi Paul Citrin
Monday Afternoons at the JCC

Jewish history is not about the past. Events and personalities, even centuries or millennia old, continue to shape us. We will examine in two more trimesters recurrent and developing elements of Jewish history which still confront us. The last theme is:

Giants of Jewish History 3/6, 3/13, 3/20 & 3/27 1:30 – 3 pm

Using a thematic rather than a chronological exploration of history through various texts, students will more clearly understand present circumstances and directions for the future. As always, there will be ample time for discussion.

Rabbi Paul J. Citrin was ordained by the Hebrew Union College in 1973. He was graduated from U.C.L.A with a Bachelor of Arts degree in History in 1968. The focus of his rabbinate has always been in congregational life. His passions are education, Israel and social justice. He is the author of a children's novel, Joseph's Wardrobe, a co-author of Gates of Repentance for Young People, Ten Sheaves, A collection of Sermons, Addresses and Articles, and of Lights in the Forest: Rabbis Respond to Twelve Essential Jewish Questions. He is married to Susan Morrison Citrin. They have four children and eight grandchildren. Rabbi Citrin is currently serving as the rabbi of the Taos Jewish Center.
